Target Audience:	Nonprofits
Goal:	confirm audience
Budget ($):	100
Team Size:	1
Max Days:	14

Agreement

- Brand score is 42.5, below threshold of 60, so branding-first mode is appropriate.
- Top branding recommendation is Value Proposition Canvas.
- Top marketing recommendation is Campus Interviews.
- Overall strategy: improve brand clarity first, then run marketing experiments.

Differences

Marketing experiment ranking

Algorithm view: Campus Interviews (score 0.875) is top, followed by Beta Waitlist (0.8214) and Reddit/Forum Engagement (0.7878).

AI view: Same top three, but AI emphasizes that Campus Interviews are highest validation at low cost, while algorithm provides normalized scores.

Recommended: Proceed with Campus Interviews as top marketing experiment, but consider Beta Waitlist as a low-cost alternative if interviews are not feasible.

Risk assessment

Algorithm view: No explicit risks listed in algorithm output.

AI view: Risks include low brand clarity causing weak signals, solo founder capacity, and nonprofit audience reach.

Recommended: Acknowledge risks: mitigate by focusing on one experiment at a time, and choose channels that reach nonprofit decision-makers (e.g., LinkedIn, nonprofit forums).

Roadmap

Brand Clarity Sprint - Days 1-3

Actions:

- Complete Value Proposition Canvas (1 day).
- Run Brand Positioning Workshop (2 days).
- Begin Customer Persona Deep-Dive (start interviews on Day 3).

Success Metrics:

- Completed canvas with clear customer jobs, pains, gains.
- Articulated one-sentence value proposition.
- At least 3 persona interviews completed.

Validation & Marketing - Days 4-10

Actions:

- Continue Customer Persona Deep-Dive (complete 10-15 interviews).
- Execute Campus Interviews (if applicable) or switch to Beta Waitlist Campaign.
- Engage in Reddit/Forum Engagement (3 days).

Success Metrics:

- Persona document with quotes and insights.
- At least 20 campus interviews or 50 waitlist sign-ups.
- Positive engagement (upvotes, DMs) on Reddit/forums.

Synthesis & Next Steps - Days 11-14

Actions:

- Analyze all interview and engagement data.
- Refine value proposition based on feedback.
- Plan next experiments (e.g., landing page rewrite, cold outreach).

Success Metrics:

- Clear evidence of problem-solution fit or pivot signal.
- Updated brand clarity score (target >60).
- Documented learnings and prioritized next steps.

AI Recommendations

Branding

Value Proposition Canvas (score: 0.7422)

Fastest way to check if your product actually solves a real problem; one day of honest work prevents weeks of wasted marketing.

Brand Positioning Workshop (score: 0.6522)

Forces you to articulate your value proposition in one sentence; clarity is the fastest form of validation.

Customer Persona Deep-Dive (score: 0.6467)

Direct conversations with real humans are the single highest-validation activity; personas make every future experiment sharper.

Marketing

Campus Interviews (score: 0.875)

Direct conversations with real students give the clearest signal about whether the problem is real, at almost no cost - before spending anything on ads.

Beta Waitlist Campaign (score: 0.8214)

A waitlist with 0 sign-ups is devastating but honest - it tells you people don't care before you spend months building.

Reddit/Forum Engagement (score: 0.7878)

Reddit communities are brutally honest - if your solution is genuinely useful, you'll know fast. If it's not, you'll know even faster.

Risks

- Low brand clarity may cause marketing experiments to yield weak signals.
- Solo founder may struggle to execute multiple experiments simultaneously within 14 days.
- Nonprofit audience may be harder to reach via typical channels like Reddit or Instagram.

Founder Report

Your brand clarity score is 42.5, below the 60 threshold, so we recommend starting with brand-building experiments before marketing. Begin with the Value Proposition Canvas (1 day, free) to map customer jobs, pains, and gains. Then run a Brand Positioning Workshop (2 days) to articulate your unique value. Simultaneously, start Customer Persona Deep-Dive interviews (5 days, $100) to gather real insights. After brand clarity improves, execute marketing experiments like Campus Interviews or Beta Waitlist to validate demand. Key risks: low brand clarity may weaken marketing signals, and as a solo founder, focus on one experiment at a time. For nonprofit audience, prioritize channels like LinkedIn or nonprofit forums over Reddit. Your goal is to confirm audience and value proposition within 14 days. Good luck!
